- Get to know your characters again by answering the following questions in their POV:
 - What do they want?
 - What is keeping them from getting it?
 - What is one fun or interesting thing about them?
- Review how your characters grow (or don't!) over the course of your draft. Note how you WANT them to grow, and what you need to add/change/edit/keep the same to make that happen.
- Review & refine character inspiration/profiles
- Consider if there are any characters that aren't ADDING anything to your story. What can they contribute or should they be removed?
- Similarly, are there any characters you'd like to add? What will they contribute that's not already there?
